

HOTELS

case study: The Kimberley Hotel
location: Harrogate

Brief : IWCF were brought on board by the client to work with the appointed architect and principle contractor. The primary roles, in this case, were to provide the specialist fit out and detailing, in order to transform a derelict cellar space into an upmarket and elegant bar and dining area.

The simplistic yet quality finished bar and back-fitting were designed as a feature piece yet to not appear too dominating within the room.

The scheme was created to bring colour and life to an otherwise series of dark rooms, incorporating areas of comfortable seating combinations at varied levels for the discerning diners and hotel guests alike. The bright and vibrant fabrics and colour ways work in harmony with the bespoke carpet and highly patterned wallpapers to create a warm and welcoming environment.
